CAMPAIGN CHIEFS
ASK COOPERATION

Full Amount Needed To Maintain Six Organizations

With the selection of members of their teams, captains and executive officers of the 1935 Community Chest campaign and their workers were prepared today to assemble at the Memorial building at 6 tonight for dinner and an organization meeting.

Drive Opens Tuesday

The campaign will open officially Tuesday morning and close Wednesday night, teams meeting each night to submit reports. The shop and school teams already have started their work and general so-litation by other team workers will start Tuesday morning.

An effort will be made to raise $15,900, the amount required to operate the six institutions included in the Welfare Federation. These institutions are the Memorial building, City Hospital, Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Home for Aged Women and Quaker City band.

Campaign Chairman Norman
Phillips and Andrew MacLeod, chairman of the executive committee, emphasized today that it is important that the full amount be pledged this year. Budgets submitted by the six institutions have been kept at a minimum and if the campaign is not successful these institutions will have much difficulty in continuing their operations
during the coming year.

Two Million
Asked to Date
on FERA Jobs

County List Is Climbing Rapidly; Schools and Roads In Group

With new projects being submitted daily, the list of proposed jobs
under the government's work relief plan has climbed to approximately $2,000,000 for Columbiana county, it was revealed today at the county relief offices in Lisbon.

Of this amount, a major item is the $650,000 proposed for the modernization of the rural public school system.

However, none of the projects
has been approved, says Works Division Manager Arthur Dickson.

County commissioners are expected to review a number of contemplated road improvement jobs this week and, later, submit them as FERA projects. The majority of these roads are mail and school bus routes.

Columbiana county has been placed in works division district
No. 3, in the state, with headquarters in Canton. Other counties in this group include Stark, Carroll, Jefferson, Harrison and Tuscarawas.

The country thus was "carved" by Progress Director Harry L. Hopkins to aid in carrying on what he calls the "direct line" responsibility down to individual projects.

The district directors will report to state progress administrators, who in turn will be responsible to him.
Their duties in observing the progress of projects, investigating wages and working conditions, and making certain that those employed came from relief rolls served to emphasize the importance of Hopkins' importance in the works setup.

GRADE PUPILS
WILL GRADUATE

Approximately 213 to Get Diplomas On June 7

Approximately 213 eighth grad-students will be graduated at commencement exercises at the Fourth Street building on Friday, June 7.
Principal Harold Williams announced today. The exercises will take place in the morning.

Six weeks' tests as given by the various eighth grade teachers will serve as a final checkup on grades.
It was announced, instead of holding final examinations.

Truck, Bus Drivers
Get State Warning

Enforcement of regulations governing the operation of motor buses and trucks has been ordered by the State Utilities commission, according to information received by police authorities.

The new order provides rather strict rules for the operation of such motor units, which if violated will make the driver amenable to the loss of his license and the company operating the bus or truck to prosecution.

Trucks and buses have been warned to use lighted pot torches and place them at least 100 feet in front and in the rear of stalled buses and trucks, with another signal in the middle of the space, so as to give all passing motor vehicles ample warning of the immediate danger.

During daylight hours, red flags
are to be placed in the same position as pot torches during the night.

Memorial Day Aids
Will Plan Parade

A meeting of Memorial day aids representing the various patriotic organizations participating, will be held at 7:30 tonight at the home of Paul Probert, North Lincoln ave., and Fifth st.

Plans will be outlined for the parade on Memorial day. Harry Lundberg, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, marshal of the day; J. A.
Nickelson, V. F. W. aid; Paul Probert, Sons of Veterans aid; and Rosa Helman, commander of the American Legion, will attend the meeting.

Not Chain Letter

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 27.—

of the street railway system, received a letter with a dime in from a man in Spokane, Wash. The sender was conscious of the sender because he failed to pay his fare on a street car here in 1905.

Henderson returned a nickel, explaining that the fare in those days
was only five cents.

WHEAT CONTROL
IS APPROVED BY COUNTY VOTERS

32 Contract Holders Vote
Yes, Nine Are Opposed

STATE, NATIONAL
VOTE FAVORABLE

Congress Differs On Significance of Balloting

Final results were being tabulated in Ohio today on the AAA's referendum on the wheat control program, which was given sweeping approval on the basis of unofficial returns.

A decisive approval of the contract plan was written onto the ballots in Columbiana county, it was disclosed by Floyd Lower,
county agricultural agent.

Columbiana county has 49 contract holders. Of the total, 41 took part in the balloting and the result was 32 yes, 9 no.

Eight non-contract signers also cast ballots and, in this case, the opposition outvoted the others.
There were five who voted no and three who said yes.

Ohio Not So Strong

Ohio, although giving approval
by a substantial majority to continuance of the program in 1936, did not vote as overwhelmingly in favor of it as did other sections of the country.

The vote throughout the country
averaged 6 to 1, for continuance, while Ohio's percentage on the basis of returns from 58 counties was only 5 to 2, an Associated Press poll showed.

With many districts yet unheard from, an unofficial survey gave the total from the 58 counties: 10,768
yes, 4,531 no.

Non-holders of present contracts who were given an opportunity to vote on the proposal, were barely able to obtain a majority in favor of the proposal. Their vote was:
1,332 yes, 1,215 no.

However, in every county that reported for the Associated Press tabulation, farmers now receiving government benefits from the control plan voiced approval this vote was 9,435 yes, 3,319 no.

Heaviest opposition from farmers who are not now participating in the program came from Darke, Shelby, Miami, and Montgomery counties.

Lay New Crop Plans

WASHINGTON, May 27.—A plan to hold the nation's wheat crop in check for the next four years was put into final shape by the AAA today in the wake of a referendum showing farmers over-
control efforts.

Latest unofficial returns from the referendum favored continuation of the wheat adjustment program by 119,029 votes to 28,330. Officials were jubilant.

Differences developed among Republican leaders in congress, meanwhile, as to the significance of the wheat producers' poll.

"The result was to be expected," declared Senator Dickinson (R.
Iowa). "Those voting for continuance of the wheat program are those who expect to be its beneficiaries."

Senator Capper (R. Kas.) said
the vote "ought to convince congress that the wheat program has been helpful and that the wheat farmers undoubtedly are for it."
Representative Hope of Kansas, ranking Republican member of the house agriculture committee, saw
"no political effect" in the referendum in his state.

"The program has been participated in by Republicans and Democrats alike," he said.

Referendum Possible

AAA officials emphasized that,
although the new program will be for four years, a national referendum on it would be called at the end of any year if 25 per cent of the growers in any given area petitioned for such a ballot.

Under the four-year program as now contemplated, the secretary of agriculture would determine the required adjustment—increases or decreases in acreage—each year, not to exceed 25 per cent of the base acreage. Benefit payments would be determined at the beginning of each marketing year.

CHAPTER XXXVII

The Inspector looked up quickly as Montigny paused. "Are you still trying to ring in Cupples as a suspect?"

"Not precisely. But Cupples answers the telephone, proceeds to his mistress downstairs and tells her that the telephone office has a private message for her from Montigny—the one sure bait that she would take without hesitation. She goes upstairs. The butler descends and says to his duties. Duane, the dancer, is in his dressing-room preparing for his entrance—so he sees Price Merriam is the last man to answer the telephone—so he goes up to answer the telephone—so he says:

"Yes you're right. Any one of them could have followed her upstairs. But it seems more likely that Valcour or Thurber, who went next door, got up to the roof that way, and came back by the same route after the crime."

"It is possible. So Valcour, let us follow this course. He joins a heavy man on the roof. He leads the way from the roof garden to the floor below, to Mrs. Elderbank's bedroom. They surprise her in the act of answering the telephone. She stifles her cries with the fumes of ammonia. They gag her with a cloth soaked which they soak with chloroform. They do not mean to kill her, perhaps—but she recognizes Valcour, and murder is necessary. They bind her, strip off her jewels. There is time for a swift dash of fake evidence. Valcour removes the mouthpiece of the telephone, substituting Thurber's. Also he smears soot from the fireplace on the bedclothing, to further convince the police by incriminating Roger Duane. All this is done very quickly. There is but one thing to cause delay—the victim's hands are clenched, her fingers are plump, there is trouble in removing her rings. The ringleader—perhaps Valcour again—tries soap, then it occurs to him that cold cream would be better still."

"Swift work, all right," commented McEniry, "for the time they had."

"Fifteen or twenty minutes. More than that length of time elapses before the maid discovers the body."

"Well, all that figuring brings us back to just where we started. You've pretty nearly proved Thurber didn't do it, anyhow. What'll I do—turn him loose?"

Montigny considered that grave. "Mr. Thurber is so useful to us—it is so nice to have at least one suspect in jail."

McEniry grinned and answered the telephone.

"What's that? Hm! Well, I'm busy now, but—wait a minute." He said to Montigny: "It's Thurber's girl friend, Miss Claren. Like to hear what she has to say?"

"But why not?" replied Montigny. "She is charming."

"All right, show her in," growled around—it must not get to the newspapers."

"Oh, mustn't it, though!" mocked Marjorie. "Just wait and see. A man's life may depend on this, young lady."

"Whose life?"

"Cupples," said McEniry shortly. "I can't go into it with you right now, Miss Claren. I can only tell you that Detective Peters met this man in the line of duty, he was acting under instructions. But I've got to impress upon you that it is absolutely necessary to keep quiet about this."

"Oh, is that so? Necessary to you and your job, I suppose? Well, either you'll turn Glenn Thurber loose this minute," she finished defiantly, "or I'll tell everything I know to Glenn's newspaper friends."

The Inspector lighted a cigar reflectively, glancing over at Montigny as though for a clue to what the Canadian thought. "All right, Miss Claren," he said presently. "I'll strike a bargain with you. You promise to keep absolutely quiet about this and I'll undertake to have Thurber released from jail before night."

"At once," demanded Marjorie. "I shall not wait until night."

"But these things take time, young lady. I've got to talk with the District Attorney—these things have got to be done by due process. I'll tell you one thing to reassure you, though. Captain Montigny has found new evidence that seems to clear Thurber completely. I wasn't kidding you just now when I said I had been talking to the Captain about releasing him. Now he is a good girl, Miss Claren, and keep very, very quiet about this information you've got. Will you?"

"Very well," said Marjorie, her head high. "I'll give you until five o'clock this afternoon."

"Bargain! But one thing more, Miss Claren. If I turn Thurber loose that's got to be kept quiet, too, understand? No publicity. We can't advertise it. Besides, Thurber's got to write some more junk for us, as though he was still in jail."

"That can be arranged," said Marjorie curtly. And she left the office.

The Inspector's telephone rang. It was an inter-office call.

McEniry listened but a moment before he burst out:

"What's that! Say that again! Where? Sure. Get Montigny on the wire for me—Inspector Laval—and rush it through."

He turned to Montigny:

"Oh boy, that's swell! They nabbed Jack Callen, in your town, Montreal! And what's more he has confessed—he's had a stroke of paralysis. And he's named the man who killed Mrs. Elderbank."

"Who?" exclaimed Montigny sharply.

"Price Merriam!"

McEniry ordered the immediate arrest of Price Merriam.

The Inspector and Montigny both held long telephone conversations with Inspector Laval of Montreal.

Jack Callen the fence had been taken into custody as he went aboard a steamship which was due to sail for Europe at ten o'clock that morning. The Montreal detectives had been guided largely by the description furnished them—Callen had obtained a passport under the name of William Arnold—and they were not at all sure of their man. When Callen had been informed that he was under arrest, however, the shock had induced a stroke of paralysis. His right side was paralyzed and his condition was regarded as very serious, but his mind remained clear and he had offered to make a full confession.

Price Merriam and two other men, he said, had killed Violet Elderbank and had stolen her jewels. The other men were known to him as "Jerky Joe" Latterman and Gus Heinemer. These men, he understood, were also the murderers of Victor Horvath, the private detective—but he was not sure of that because they had not confided in him.

There was no Valcour in Callen's story. Valcour, he said, had been only an unwitting tool, a messenger boy who had delivered the fortune in jewels, sealed in the back of his framed painting, to the art shop from which Callen had become

Quintuplets Home In Path of Fire

(By Associated Press)

CALLANDER, Ont., May 27.—Brush fires cracked today along a zig zag front in the direction of the little hospital where the Dionne quintuplets first birthday anniversary will be celebrated tomorrow.

Billows of smoke rolled from the burning second growth stand of spruce, birch and poplar across the back acres of the farm of Olivia Dionne and in sight of his house where, one year ago tomorrow, the five famous babies were born.

The little brown hospital, with the British flag flying from a flag-staff before it, is across the road from the farmhouse, and the fire was still confined to the opposite side of the sandy highway. Officials in charge of the hospital said there was not the slightest danger to the building and least of all to the babies themselves, for they could be quickly moved if an emergency required.

A dozen or more men fought to check the fire throughout the night, seemingly with little success.

One NEW YORK NIGHT

with FRANCHOT TONE UNA MERKEL Conrad Nagel

COMEDY, NOVELTY, NEWS

Theater Attractions

Tuesday night only the State Theater will show Franchot Tone and Una Merkel in "One New York Night." This is a mystery comedy and is told in a hotel where a dozen people from various walks of life become involved in a murder that is said to induce as many thrills.

Franchot Tone has the role of a man from Wyoming in New York in search of a brunette to marry. Una Merkel, a blond telephone operator in the hotel, turns out to be the romantic interest in Tone's life, despite the fact she is a blond. There is a murder in the hotel and Tone and Merkel join forces and solve the crime.

The entire story transpires in a hotel lobby and the various rooms. It presents a unique cross section of life as exemplified by guests who become involved in the crime.

Conrad Nagel is cast as the murdered man's secretary, Steffi Dana, the Hungarian actress who made a hit in the technical novelty "La Cucaracha," has the role of a Russian countess.

"Go Into Your Dance" starring Al Jolson and his wife Ruby Keeler will be shown tonight for the last time.

This is a musical revue with dance ensembles containing scores of beautiful girls. There are several song hits from the picture, sung by Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler, who have the romantic leads.

The story concerns a Broadway entertainer who is barred from playing in New York because of his weakness for wine and women. The climax of his comeback leads through love tangles and thrilling situations.

Helen Morgan, the blues singer in the show, nearly spells the life of Ruby Keeler, a little dancing girl, as well as nearly wrecking a stage show through her jealous rage. She sings one song, "The Little Things You Used To Do."

Al Jolson sings two current hit tunes, "She's a Latin From Manhattan" and "About a Quarter To Nine."

There is a talented supporting cast including Sharon Lynne, Patsy Kelly, Bennie Rubin, Gordon West and Joyce Compton.

PROTECT YOUR LIFE AND THE LIVES OF OTHERS!

THERE are three questions you should ask yourself about the tires you buy:

1—"Will the non-skid tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"

2—"Are they built to give me the greatest blowout protection?"

3—"Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"

Answer No. 1—Harvey S. Firestone early realized the value of tire traction and safety and was the first to design an All Rubber Non-Skid Tire. Through the years Firestone has led the way in the design and development of tires with most effective non-skid treads.

Firestone does not depend solely on traction and non-skid tests made by its own engineers—it employs a leading University to make impartial tests for non-skid efficiency of its tires, and their most recent report shows that Firestone High Speed Tires stop the car 15% quicker than the best of all popular makes of tires.

Answer No. 2—Blowout protection must be built into a tire. Friction and heat within the tire is the greatest cause of blowouts. Firestone protects its tires from friction and heat by a patented process which soaks every cord and insulates every strand with pure liquid rubber. This is an additional process known as Gum-Dipping, by which every 100 pounds of cotton cords absorb eight pounds of rubber. This extra process costs more and is not used in any other make of tire.

Leading race drivers investigate the inbuilt qualities of the tires they use, because their very lives depend upon their tires, and they always select Firestone Tires for their daring speed runs. In fact, Firestone Tires have been on the winning cars in the gruelling Indianapolis 500-mile race for fifteen consecutive years, and they were on the 5,000-pound car that Ab Jenkins drove 3,000 miles in 23½ hours on the hot salt beds at Lake Bonneville, Utah, at an average speed of 127.2 miles per hour, without tire trouble of any kind. These amazing performance records are proof of the greatest blowout protection ever known.

Answer No. 3—Thousands of car owners reporting mileage records of 40,000 to 75,000 miles, is proof of the long mileage and greater economy by equipping with Firestone High Speed Tires. Let these unequalled performance records be your buying guide.

Go to the Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store or Firestone Tire Dealer and let him equip your car with Firestone Tires, the safest and most economical tires built.

Volume—Direct Purchasing—Straight Line Manufacturing and Efficient and Economical System of Distributing to our 500 Stores and to 30,000 Dealers, enables Firestone to give you greater values at lowest prices

SPORTS Chatter

One of Best

IN THE SHORT space of a year, Linus "Junior" Frey of the Brooklyn Dodgers has won a place for himself among the shining stars of the National League.

Frey, who plays a whale of a game at the short field post for Casey Stengel's hustling ball tossers, is one of those exceptionally talented infielders who come along about once in a decade, and the proof of his greatness lies in the fact that he is already being compared to "Beauty" Bancroft, generally rated tops among National league shortstops of the last 10 or 12 years.

It was Bill McKechnie, big chief of the Boston Braves, and one of the keenest judges of baseball players in the world, who tabbed the Brooklyn youngster as the best man to cover a National league short field since Bancroft was in his superb heyday.

Larrying Linus is not only a polished and efficient workman on the defense, he is also one of the most dangerous mace-men in captivity. Young Junior is right up there among the leaders in home run clouting, run scoring and driving in runs.

Specks
ALTHOUGH it has been less than a year since he made his major league debut, young Johnny Bronca has already established himself as one of the ranking right-handers of the American League, and seems certain to develop into a real pitching great.

This bespectacled, studious chap, who jumped straight from Yale to the Yankees without the usual minor league seasoning, has everything necessary to become one of the mightiest masters of the mound. Equipped by nature with a perfect pitching temperament, John is always cool and calm without being stolid or phlegmatic. Tight situations and crucial moments fail to upset him, for this young kid has the poise and confidence of a big league veteran.

Bronca has world of determination and plenty of courage.

Errors Cost Local Junior Legion Team Game On Saturday

Despite the good offensive and defensive playing of Moffett, the Salem Junior American Legion baseball team, lost to the Leetonia Junior Legionnaires on Saturday, 9 to 6, in a game played at Leetonia.

Errors on the part of the Salem club cost them the game. Moffett allowed no runs and no hits and allowed on runs and no hits and then when at bat, hit a homer and two singles.

Merchants Beaten By Potters, 29-3, Sunday; Lisbon Drops Lakers

East Liverpool Nine Outclasses Local County Baseball Club; Pitchers' Duel Features Lake Placid-Lisbon Encounter

The Salem Merchants went down badly before the strong East Liverpool Laughtin China team on Sunday at Centennial park, losing 29 to 3, in one of four county baseball league tilts played about the county.

Another local entry in the loop, Lake Placid, lost a thriller to the Lisbon Hanna Oils at Lake Placid Sunday, 1-0.

The Merchants sent three pitchers into the box during the game, but the Potters managed to collect 23 hits, while Salem got only five from Mackall and Myers. The Merchants scored three runs in the fifth inning.

Lake Placid and East Liverpool again are tied for first place in the county ball loop.

Manager Reaney of the local club has called a meeting of all players at 8 tonight in the Memorial building to discuss some important team matters.

Pitcher Johnny Hrovatic, hitting a double to right center field, and then scoring on Price's hit over second base, brought in the only run for Lisbon, but which dropped the Lake Placid team. The tilt was a pitchers duel from the start.

The Lakers rallied in the seventh but fell short. Five misplays behind Hrovatic nearly cost him the game but the Placid team failed to come through in the pinches.

A double-header home bill has been arranged for the Placid nine on Memorial day. The Sebring Mitchelltree Grocers will be the opponent and the first game will start at 1:30 p. m.

Sebring lost to Kensington yesterday, 8 to 1, and East Palestine, playing at Salineville, lost 12-3. Summaries:

Paul Roelen Stands Out In State Track Tournament

While Salem High school's track athletes staged no stellar feats at the annual state track and field meet in Columbus over the week-end, Paul Roelen, mile runner, stood out in front of the rest.

Roelen flashed along the cinder path to finish fifth in the mile run on Saturday. Curtiss of Cleveland Shaw won the race in 4 minutes, 31.3 seconds.

A Rich finished 10th in the broad jump and four more inches would have put him in the running. Paul Layden and Dick Eakin failed to set any outstanding mark in the pole vault.

Why it is Better to Buy A Used Car From E. L. Grate Motor Co.

FORD
SALES and SERVICE

Our Valve Refacing Machines are built to do their work with precision and accuracy. When valve grinding is necessary on a reconditioned car, all the valves are first refaced on this machine. It produces true valve seats which are necessary for efficient performance.

THE "MECHANICAL DOCTOR" AT WORK

This Laboratory Test Set is one of the special machines designed for Ford Dealers for testing and reconditioning all makes of cars. Applied to an engine, it detects the slightest imperfection in mechanism or electrical system and tells exactly what reconditioning any is needed. To see this machine work is interesting. We will be glad to show it to you.

GRATE USED CARS ARE DEPENDABLE

When you buy from Grate, it isn't necessary to know anything about cars. He values his reputation for fair dealing and good service. He wants you to be satisfied with the Used Car he sells you. Making a sale is not nearly so important as making a friend and customer.

Grate has certain advantages which enables him to give you sound values in a Used Car.

He has a force of trained mechanics to recondition Used Cars and put them in first-class running condition. When Grate guarantees a car he is sure it is right and you can be sure you can depend on him.

Grate has the finest modern tools and equipment. One of his special facilities for reconditioning Used Cars is the Laboratory Test Set, or "Mechanical Doctor," which unfailingly tells when anything is wrong with an engine or electrical system.

In reconditioning Ford Used Cars, Grate uses only genuine Ford parts which are identical in quality measurement with the original parts which they replace. This is very important because the future service the car depends on the strength and accuracy of replacement parts used.

The very large sale of 1935 Ford Cars has brought to Grate an unusual number of Used Cars in excellent condition. Many of them are 1934 and 1935 V-8s which have required very little work to put them in excellent condition. Virtually all makes are represented, however, and whatever preference in a Used Car, Grate has. You are sure to find attractive values as well as the security of buying from a reputable dealer.
